

SAFARI CLUB INTERNATIONAL

Mission Statement:

To protect and expand the rights of hunters worldwide.

Safari Club International (SCI) believes that legal hunting is a vital tool to help keep all wildlife populations healthy. By staying involved in the judicial process at provincial, state and federal levels, SCI members focus energy on shaping political opinions and support.

Dedicated to protecting the rights of sportsmen worldwide, Safari Club International has cut through the propaganda spread by animal-rights extremists and helps elected officials make the educated decisions needed to protect the public, our hunting heritage, wildlife and habitat.

SCI's more than 200 Chapters host outstanding local banquets, informal get-togethers, educational forums and conservation and humanitarian services projects benefiting those in need. SCI Chapters and members fund hundreds of local, regional and global wildlife conservation projects each year. Each SCI Chapter is required to fund at least one conservation project each year.

If you love to hunt, SCI is a great place to expand your circle of hunting companions. Membership Application forms are available from your local SCI Chapter or on the website listed below. Membership rates vary, but members must be a member of the International organization, before becoming a chapter member.
